DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 1-4 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Regarding claim 1, the expression "trimethylenenorbornane in a raffinate obtained from platfinate" is indefinite since it is unclear what is actually fed to the reaction. As interpreted, the claimed process can be understood as a process in which trimethylenenorbornane is isomerized and that this trimethylenenorbornane is originally contained in (derived from) a raffinate obtained from a platfinate.

Claims 1-3 are inconsistent since while in claim 1 applicants claim trimethylenenorbornane contained in a raffinate, in claims 2 and 3, applicants claim the trimethylenenorbornane is concentrated before the isomerization. As interpreted, in the process of claims 2 and 3, this trimethylenenorbornane can be concentrated to 100% pure. If so, any compounds other than trimethylenenorbornane have been removed. Therefore, the feed to the isomerization cannot be considered to be a raffinate anymore.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

Claims 1-4 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over the abstract of JP 52052888A in considered with the admitted prior art disclosed by applicants in the specification.

Art Unit: 1764

The JP abstract discloses that adamantane can be produced by isomerization of trimethylenenorbornane in the presence of a solid catalyst, namely zeolite catalyst.

The JP abstract does not disclose that the trimethylenenorbornane originally contained in (derived from) a raffinate obtained from a platfinate is concentrated before the isomerization. However, as disclosed on page 3 of the specification, the industrial raffinate obtained from platfinate containing trimethylenenorbornane and others such as methyltrimethylenenorbornane and naphthenes.

Therefore, it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to have modified the JP process by removing all of compounds other than trimethylenenorbornane from the industrial raffinate since it is expected that a pure reactant would yield a purer product. This step is clearly not different from the process of claims 2 and 3. Since claims 2 and 3 are obviously disclosed by the JP in view of the admitted prior art. Claim 1 is also rejected by the same.
